Logical solutions for your communications..

"Brother's PT-7600 enables my engineers to operate more efficiently every single day. On any job, it's absolutely essential for the team to be able to quickly and efficiently label and identify data cabling and sockets for our clients to use. Without a labelling machine, there would be a great deal of time wasted manually writing out markers and the end job would be untidy and not as professional looking as when using the PT-7600.

The PT-7600 produces professional-looking, durable labels and is incredibly easy to operate. We can type numbers and letters, without having to swap screens or press additional buttons to change from text to numbers. Its long life battery means we can use it all day without having to charge it. It's built to be hardwearing, and two years on, it's still an essential piece of our equipment taking pride of place in our toolkit."
